Uncle Sam Wins a Victory in the Courts, SALT LAKE, Utah Ter., Oct. 9 .- The supreme court of Utah today entered final judgment and decree in the case of the United States against the Mormon church which was pending to dissolve the church corporation and have its property declared escheated to the government. The suit was brought about in the supreme court of the territory under the act of congress of the territory under the act of congress of Februrary 10, 1887. In that suit a receiver was appointed for the church corporation. He succeeded in collecting over $1,000,000 worth of property, real and personal. The decree entered today is a complete triumph for the government. It declares the corporations of the church dissolved, ascertains that the voluntary religious sect now in existence the church dissolved, ascertains that the voluntary religious sect now in existence has no right to the corporate property, except the temple block and buildings, which are set aside to it. It denies the intervention of a large number of individuwhich are set aside to it. It denies the intervention of a large number of individuals claiming the property, orders the real estate of the corporation to be held by the receiver until the information for the forfeiture for the same, brought by the government, can be brought to a conclusion, and it declares all of the personal property of the late corporation to have become escheated to the government. This point was the one most bitterly fought, as the property of the church was claimed on behalf of the incorporated Mormon sect as the successor in interest of the late corporation and by individuals who were members of the corporation, who intervened on behalf of themselves and all others, members of the corporation. Upon the evidence the court decided that neither the present church nor individuals had any legal claims; that all of the property had been held upon trusts, the objects of which were principally to uphold polygamy, and that these trusts were the only ones existing to which said property could be devoted. It furthermore decided that the present church still upholds, teaches and maintains polygamy, and that any dedication of property to it would be for the purpose of upholding polygamy, and would be unlawful. After exhaustive evidence the court declares the property to belong to the government by operation of law. Defendants have taken the case to the supreme court of the United States, where it will be contested.

Major John T. Caine was renominated today by the Mormon church convention as delegate to congress.

DESTRUCTION OF AN HISTORIC BUILDING.

NEW ORLEANS, La., Oct. 9.-Workmen began last week demolishing the old Unit-ed States court building on Royal, between Dumane and St. Philip streets. This was one of the public buildings turned over by the French at the transfer of Louisiana in 1863, and was occupied as the United States district court house for a great many years. In this building Judge Dumaine O. Hall sat when he issued the bench warrant for the arrest of General Jackson for contempt of court in refusing to obey a writ of habeas. when he issued the ochen warrant for the arrest of General Jackson for contempt of court in refusing to obey a writ of habeas corput, and here the victorious general was brought by the United States marshal to answer therefor. He was nned $1,000 by the presiding judge, filled out his check and passed it over to the clerk and was discharged. The building was small and not suited for the growing city, and 1825 President John Quincy Adams ordered its sale at auction. It was bought in by the Chevalier Louis d'Aquin. It has had five owners since. On August 6, 1885, Henry Pfeiffer purchased it. When the property ceased to be a court house it was transformed into a school house by a party by the name of Janin. Charles Watrigant then occupied it as a furniture store for over forty years. Mr. Pfeiffer will immediately commence the erection of a two-story brick building, to be used as a residence and a store. as a residence and a store.

on the subject of wages.

President Yerkes opened the conference with an offer to correct the present system of hours as far as possible. An agreement was reached on this point but when the wage question was taken up, the men insisted on 25 cents per hour for grip men, 23 cents for trial and grip conductors and 22 cents for horse car men. Yerkes offered 29 cents for horse car men and 21 cents for grip car men. The strikers refused to make any concession and after much argument the conference broke up. A committee of the West Side car men was waiting to learn the result and when a failure to reach an agreement was reported, the chairman said a strike would be ordered and hurried away.

said a strike would be ordered and hurried away.

A committee of the strikers waited upon the mayor early in the evening to complain about the retention of special detectives to guard the company's barns. These specials, they argued, were a menace to life, and also denied that they were needed by the company. "The city police," said their chairmen, "can give Mr. Yerkes all the protection he needs and while they are around there will be but little danger of any serious outbreaks." The committee left a short time afterward and the mayor sent for Mr. Yerkes, whom he asked to discharge the detectives. He said he would furnigh enough men to protect the company's barns. Mr. Yerkes promptly acquiesced in the request. The detectives were supplanted by the regular policemen. It is said this morning that the executive committee of the south side railway organization has tendered the north and west side strikers financial assistance, if necessary.

and west side strikers financial assistance, if necessary.

In anticipation of a long struggle, and to guard against possible outbreaks, the police force is to be greatly increased. About 350 applications for places on the force are on file in the superintendent's office, and word has been sent to all the night men to report for duty today. A large force of patrolmen will be distributed over the west side to look after the railroad commany's property there.

Supt. Nagle Draws His Revolver on the Crowd and is Roughly Handled.

CHICAGO, Oct. 9 .- A disturbance more serious than on the North Side marked the ending of the trip on the West Side cars this evening. A dense mob obstructed the police laden cars on Halstead street. Nothing serious happened until the cars were approaching the western terminus for the leading car but the one following was brought to a stop. A wooden wedge had been suddenly inserted in the Western avenue switch by one of the mob. Superintendent Nagle was the driver of the car. He seemed to be the driver of the car. He seemed to be the object of special interest from the strikers and their sympathizers. In a moment after the car stopped the vicinity was a pandemonium. Stones were hurled at the car and the air rang with yells and curses. A flying brick caught the superintendent in the stomach. Uttering an oath he pulled a revolver from his pocket and turned toward the crowd. The conductor, Harris, who had been discharged from by the company for the same cause long previous to the strike, but reemployed in the emergency, quickly followed the example of the superintendent. The sharp click as the two cocked their weapons was click as the two cocked their weapons was the signal for an unexpected incident. Striking Picture-A Revival of Old Time

Simplicites.

In one of Harpers issues is given a very fine illustration of Roberts' celebrated painting, known as "Doctoring Old Time" it represents a typical old-timer, with his bellows, blowing the dust from an ancient clock, with its cords and weights carefully secured. One of these clocks in this generation is appreciated only as a rare relic The suggestive name. "Doctoring Old Time," brings to our mind another version of the title used for another purpose—"Old Time Doctoring."

We learn, through a reliable source, that one of the enterprising proprietary medicine firms of the country, has been for years investigating the formules and medical preparations used in the beginning of this century, and even before, with a view of ascertaining why people in our greatgrandfather's time enjoyed a health and physical vigor so seldom found in the present generation. They now think they have secured the secret or secrets. They find that the prevailing opinion that then existed that "Nature has a remedy for every existing disorder," was true, and acting under this belief, our grandparents used the common herbs and plants. Continual trespass upon the forest domain has made these herbs less abundant and has driven them further from civilization, until they have been discarded as remedial agents because of the difficulty of obtaining them.

H. H. Warner, proprietor of Warner's agents because of the difficulty of obtaining them.

H. H. Warner, proprietor of Warner's safe cure and founder of the Warner observatory, Rochester, N. Y., has been pressing investigations in this direction, into the annals of old family histories, until he has secured some very valuable formulas from which his firm is now preparing medicines to be sold by all druggists. They will, we learn, be known under the general title of "Warner's Log Cabin remedies." Among these medicines will be a "sarsaparilla" for the blood and liver, "Log Cabin nos and buchu remedy" for the stomach, etc., "Log Cabin cough and consumption remedy," "Log Cabin hair tonic" "Log Cabin extract." for internal and external use, and an old valuable discovery for catarrh. called "Log Cabin rose cream." Among the listis also a "Log Cabin plaster," and a "Log Cabin liver pill."

From the number of remedies it will be

Cabin plaster," and a "Log Cabin liver pill."

From the number of remedies it will be seen that they do not promise to cure all diseases with one preparation. It is believed by many that with these remedies a new era is to dawn upon suffering humanity and that the close of the nineteenth century will see these roots and herbs as compounded under the title of Warner's Log Cabin remedies as popular as they were at the beginning. Although they come in the form of proprietary medicines yet they will be none the less welcome, for suffering humanity has become tired of modern doctoring and the public has great confidence in any remedies but up by the firm of which H. H. Warner is the head. The people have become suspicious of the effects of doctoring with poisonous drugs. Few realize the injurious effects following the prescriptions of many modern physicians. These effects of poisonous drugs, already prominent, will become more pronounced in coming generations. Therefore we can cordially wish the old-fashioned new remedies the best of success.

ABUSING FRANKING PRIVILEGES. WASHINGTON, Oct. 9.- The postoffice in spectors are engaged in investigating sev eral complaints that have been received of the improper use of the franking privilege. Department officials say that it is difficult to discover abuses of this character, as they have no right to open mail matter unless fraud exists. One of the officials in speaking of the inevitable abuse of this privilege, said that the entire system ought to be abolished. He favored the substitution of an annual appropriation giving to each member of congress a certain amount of money to be used to pay the postage. The stationery of the members is supplied in this way, he explained, and he thought that some provision should be made for the nostage. A large proportion of the matter now sent out by members of congress is official, and yet it did not come within the provisions of the franking law. The entire abolition of the franking privilege, with the substitution of an allowance for postage, it is believed, would not only be to the advantage of congressmen, but it would greatly benefit the service. in speaking of the inevitable abuse of
